PROGRAMME COMPLETE FOR SNOWSHOERS

Many of Faculty Expected to Be Present.

R. V. C. SUPPORTERS.

Snowshoes May Be Obtained To-day at "Smyth's" at Special Rates.

To-morrow evening at 7.30 the Union will be the starting point for the largest snowshoeing party which has ever been held at McGill. So far, over two hundred people have purchased tickets for the tramp, including a large number from the Royal Victoria College.

So great has been the demand for these that the executive found it necessary to have another hundred single tickets placed on sale towards the end of the week, some of which are still on sale at the Union along with a limited supply of couple tickets for those desiring to bring outside friends.

The catering will be completely in charge of the Union Cafeteria, which is making special and adequate preparations for the "hungry mob" which will return from the snow-capped Mount Royal at ten o'clock to take advantage of the splendid hospitality of the Union House Committee, who have given every encouragement to the club in their efforts to revive the good old sport of snowshoeing at Old McGill.

The programme en route will consist of three changes, which need not interfere with those who are bringing their own partners. The sale of tickets has been regulated so that the party will be properly balanced.

The club have been highly gratified by the backing they are receiving from the "co-eds," and a very goodly representation will grace the occasion. Mention should be made of the excellent work of their committee, who have co-operated untiringly with the social committee in their efforts to make the first tramp a success. Misses Newham and Nicol have consented to chaperon the party. It is highly probable that more than one of the Faculty will be present to lend color to this function.

Special arrangements have been made with "Jas. Smyth," 310 University Street, who will have an unlimited stock of all sizes of moccasins, snowshoes and every other necessity for rent. Students may call for these at any time to-day and have the privilege of returning these as late as Wednesday noon, for which a reduced rate of 25 cents for "this loan" for snowshoes is being made. The charge for moccasins will be the same, while prices for any other articles will be correspondingly low. It has been the intention of the (Continued on Page 4.)

R.V.C. PARTIALS HOLD MEETING

Plan Discussed to Hold Sewing Meetings.

An important meeting of the P.V.C. Partial Society was held on Friday, the 10th, in the Common Room, at which the financial success of the The Dansant was discussed. The society realized the money that it had hoped to make, and will publish the exact amount in the "Daily" towards the end of the week.

For some years it had been customary for the girls to decorate the University Settlement rooms for Christmas. Last year this was not done, but the girls thought that they would like to undertake this again this year.

A plan was proposed — to prepare two baskets of food to give to two poor families. Each girl is to provide one article for the baskets. The idea was received with great enthusiasm, so that it looks as if the two families would be well provided with Christmas goodies.

The suggestion was also made that sewing meetings should be held at regular intervals — once every week or every two weeks. The object of this plan was two-fold: first, to give the members of the society a chance to get together and to become better acquainted; and, second, to make garments for poor children. This also was enthusiastically received, but no definite arrangements were made, and the matter was left until after the holidays.

EXPLANATION RECEIVED RE TRACK MEET

Better Relationship Between Clubs in Future.

VARSITY EXPLAINS.

Inter-Collegiate Track Union Constitution is Ratified.

At a meeting of the Canadian Intercollegiate Athletic Association, which was held Saturday morning at the McGill Union, the question of the dispute between Varsity and McGill with reference to the date of the Intercollegiate Track Meet was discussed.

The fact is well known that this year Varsity set the date for the meet, contrary to the constitution, and, further, they wrote the McGill executive a letter stating that they would either hold the meet on the date they wished or would not hold it at all — regardless of the constitution.

The McGill executive kept in constant communication with Varsity, and insisted the date be set as was called for in the constitution, and after a long delay in answers from Varsity, the McGill executive was notified that it was too late to have the matter changed. This was fully a week before the day was due. The matter was placed in the hands of the Board of Reference — and after a very strong telegram from Prof. Brown, stating that it was doubtless Varsity's place to give way, the Board of Reference informed McGill that it was too late to have the matter settled satisfactorily, and it either necessitated backing out or going down in a sportsmanlike manner, and show Varsity that in spite of the odds we were able to beat them. This our team did.

The McGill team resented very much the action taken by Varsity, and the fact that they were allowed to get away with it, so it was taken up at Saturday's meeting.

The only explanation given by Varsity at the meeting was to the effect that the matter was entirely a fault of the Track executive at Varsity—the matter never really reached their athletic directorate until five days before the meet was due.

Although this explanation was not as satisfactory to the McGill executive as was desired, nevertheless the place where the fault lay has been determined, and Varsity has given us to understand that nothing of such a nature will occur in the future. An apology for the whole matter was made by Toronto.

The new Track Union constitution was ratified at the meeting, and it is hoped that this will eliminate any similar trouble in the future.

HIGH SCHOOL DANCE.

The sale of tickets for the Informal Dance, which is to be held in the High School on Friday, Dec. 17th, is now open to the friends of the Graduates and McGill students. Tickets ($2.50 a couple) are on sale at the High School office only, and no tickets will be sold at the door on the night of the dance.

STUDENTS' SOCIETY.

There will be a special meeting of the Students Society on Wednesday at five p.m.

CONCERT BY ORCHESTRA A BIG SUCCESS

Entertainment at Union Yesterday Was First of Season.

CLASSICAL PROGRAM.

Numerous Selections Enchanted Over 500 People.

In the presence of an audience that crowded the large hall of the Union the McGill Students' Orchestra held yesterday their first concert of the season. It was on the whole very enjoyable to the listeners who will look forward with eagerness to the next concert.

Promptly at three o'clock the Orchestra commenced the proceedings with the playing of "Hall, Alma Mater."

The first selection was the Overture "Figaro" by Mozart. This piece was without doubt the most popular and the best rendered of any on the programme. Another excellently chosen piece followed. It was a Cello Solo entitled "Tzig, Tzig," by Squire, and Mr. E. G. Closkey gave it full justice in his rendering. He responded to an encore which was also well received.

The next item on the programme was the "Angelus" from "Scenes Pittoresques," by Massenet. This piece, it might be stated, was not quite so well chosen as the preceding ones, as it appeared to possess so many technical difficulties for the orchestra, and thus was not so fully appreciated.

"Plus grand dans son obscurité" was the title of a song from "La Reine de Saba" that appealed strongly to the audience. Mme. Larose was justly encored and sang another song quite as charming as the first.

A minuet from "Military Symphony," by Haydn, was the next choice of the orchestra. It was well played and well received, with almost the enthusiasm of the first two selections.

Next came a finely played violin solo, entitled "Chaconne," by Vitali David, played by Mr. Phillip Presner. No possible fault could be found with his rendering of it, but once again a doubt could be entertained regarding the wisdom of the choice. An audience consisting mainly of college students cannot be expected to understand and appreciate a highly technical selection, even though that selection be superbly played, as was the case here.

CHESS CLUB TO PLAY WESTMOUNT

McGill Plays at the Union in First Home Game.

The first home game of the McGill Chess Team will take place to-night at the Union at 8 p.m. McGill will meet the Westmount aggregation in the schedule game of the City Chess League.

This is McGill's second game since she entered the City League, which includes teams from Montreal, Verdun and Westmount. The McGill team distinguished itself last Wednesday, when it defeated Nationals in a hard fought battle. There is no denying that McGill has produced a strong chess team, which will strive hard to win the League Championship.

To-night, then, McGill will play her second game, and she will have as adversary a team representing the Westmount Chess Club. All those who are interested in this game are welcome to see this match, and those class-fans who will be present can be assured of an interesting game. The McGill team has not yet suffered a loss, and the players will strive hard to maintain this distinction to-night. The following students will represent McGill to-night:—

Jordan (captain).
Duburger.
Huntin.
Johnston.
Rothschild.
Cartwright.
Silverman.

A FACULTY OF COMMERCE

Side by side with the natural growth and expansion of the University it is only natural to expect a continual branching-off of the various specialized departments which go to make up the whole. During the course of last session two new faculties were created within the University—those of Dentistry and Music. The one an offshoot of the Faculty of Medicine; and the other a department which has long merited its new dignity. In each case this grant of partial autonomy has had the most beneficial results on the general vigor and progress of the departments concerned.

Some six years ago a School of Commercial Studies was instituted and placed under the direct control of Corporation. Later with a view to lending the School of Commerce a more academic tone it was entrusted to the direction of the Faculty of Arts. In this position it has remained ever since.

Of late its courses have proved extremely popular, and each successive year has shown a largely increased freshman class. But this same growth seems at the present time to hold more promise of evil than of good. Whether the policy hitherto pursued by the University be a wise one or not, the fact remains that the present curriculum of the School of Commerce is of a totally different nature from that of the Faculty of Arts. In consequence of this the aims and aspirations of the two student-bodies have as a matter of course become widely diversified. The anomaly which has resulted from this conflict of ideals within a single body is proving more and more of a tumbling block to the students both of Arts and Commerce.

It should be unnecessary to discuss the common inconvenience caused by the crowding together of Arts and Commerce in the insufficient quarters in the Arts Building, a condition which may well prove fatal to legitimate expansion. Tradition appears to sanction the use of the Arts Building as a nursery for new-born departments and a place of refuge for the otherwise homeless. There are more-over reasons of a financial nature sufficient in themselves. But we should like to emphasize the fact that there lurks in the present state of affairs a menace which bears more directly upon undergraduate life.

By persevering activity the students of the School of Commerce have gained recognition as a separate entity in all but name, yet through lack of official recognition as a faculty they are automatically grouped together with the real Arts students in one and the same undergraduate body. This has been the cause of ever-increasing friction, and the prospects of a future passed under the existing conditions are of the gloomiest. Elections in this particular Undergraduate Society are becoming more and more a struggle between the conflicting interests of Arts and Commerce. It is unfair to expect two factors to work together in harmony whose interests are in reality as far apart as the north pole is from the south.

Doubtless the University authorities intend to establish a Faculty of Commerce at some future date, but we are not so sure whether they are fully conscious of the urgency of the situation. The best interests of the students both of Arts and of Commerce require the creation of a separate Faculty of Commerce in the immediate future.

by Del Riego. The feature of these songs was the fine voice of Mme. Larose, the clear articulation, which carried the words to the farthest corners of the Hall, and the subtlety of the songs for such a concert. Her splendid performance included a number of encores, which were equally well applauded.

The final number was an ambitious undertaking, which was, under the circumstances, a success. The effective playing of the two pieces, greatly enjoyed by all.

"Andante con brio," from Beethoven's "First Symphony," is a matter of great difficulty. In spite of this, however, the orchestra succeeded in winning over the audience completely by their fine performance.

The concert was undoubtedly a big success. The technique and expression of the orchestra was a revelation to most of those present, and with one or two exceptions the programme was well chosen. Since their last appearance the Students' Orchestra have progressed wonderfully under the leadership of Mr. J. J. Gagnier. To him goes a great deal of credit for the success of the concert. It is to be hoped that a similar concert will be given shortly, for yesterday afternoon's affair was effective playing of the two pieces, greatly enjoyed by all.

Maritime-Westerner Dance to See New Departure.

Fifty additional tickets for the dance on the seventeenth will be placed on sale to-day at 1 p.m. in the Union, and will be handled by club representatives as under:

Maritime Club—Webster.
Western Club—Jones.

All those intending to go to the dance are urged to be on hand at this time as the tickets are limited and the demands already made indicate that not a few will be disappointed. Remember, then! If you hold a ticket not specially marked, reserve No. 8 as the supper waltz, and leave No. 7 vacant on your programme when you are arranging your dances. If your pastebord is cross marked with heavy lines in black and red, dance No. 7 before proceeding supper-wards, and leave No. 8 a blank. An extra will be played after the eighth dance, and after all have had time to return to the ballroom. Entrance to the supper room will be granted only to those whose ticket stub is correctly marked, or not marked, as the case may be. Members will retain half of their ticket for this purpose, as the authorities at the Union will have instructions to tear the tickets in two at the door when patrons first go in.

To the Editor, "McGill Daily."

Dear Sir,—

As one who has suffered from the thefts which have recently taken place from the cloakroom of the Redpath Library, I feel myself obliged to say a few words concerning these occurrences. The theft in question occurred on Thursday afternoon, between the hours of 4 and 6, when the library is most filled with students. The matter was made known to the library authorities. The next day, at the same hour of the afternoon, another theft of the same nature occurred.

The only thing that seems to have been done by the library authorities to protect students from this state of affairs, is the tacking up of a small notice in the cloakroom on which is inscribed the awe-inspiring words: "Not responsible for articles left in this room." I need not dwell on this efficient protection given to library-goers.

Since these are the facts as they stand, the student is quite justified in placing his hat, coat, umbrella and rubbers anywhere but in the cloakroom. I would suggest here, the closing up altogether of the cloakroom in order that an unknowing person, who thinks it proper on entering a university library to place his belongings in the cloakroom, may not realize the cold facts by finding himself without a hat and coat to go home with.

In all important libraries, wherever they may be, there is a common ruling that all articles of clothing must be checked in a cloakroom properly supervised and this ruling is strictly enforced. The authorities who make these regulations perhaps have a reason for doing so. They may have in their mind the protection of the library goers.

I would not like to dwell on the impression received by a visitor to a library where the first thing he sees are hats, coats and scarfs strewn about the reading room, and hats and coats on the tables and chairs.

The thefts which have occurred at the University library are of too serious a nature to be dealt with lightly.

In order that I may not be classed as one who criticises without offering a remedy, I would like to suggest the only effective measure to prevent a re-occurrence of these thefts. It is very simply the installing of a checking system for all students who make use of the library. The small expense involved would be justifiable in the view that the writer has in mind three thefts of a similar nature which have occurred from the library inside of one week. I hope that the library authorities will see to it that something practical be done along these lines. Only in this way will petty thieving stop.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for your valuable space,

I remain,
DAVID COWAN.

JUNIORS "A" WIN GAME IN BASKETBALL

Defeat M.A.A.A. at Molson Hall on Saturday.

SCORE WAS 26-18.

Presented Sharp Contrast in Play—Coach Van Wagner Was on Hand.

The Junior Basketball Team (Section A) defeated the M.A.A.A. Juniors by a score of 26 to 18 at Molson Hall on Saturday night. The game was interesting, in that it presented a sharp contrast of play in each half. The first period was slow and very loose, while in the second the play picked up wonderfully on both sides. Outside of the officials there were only three spectators, so that the game was, comparatively speaking, a silent one.

The ball was faced off at about 8.25 and for some time following neither side made any headway. Brice opened the scoring for McGill by a pretty shot from the side. Caplan followed his example soon after, and later also scored a goal from a free shot. Reynolds tallied two goals for M.A.A.A., and Wilson brought the score even by scoring a free goal. Just before half-time, however, Caplan brought McGill ahead by getting another free goal.

Half-time: McGill 6, M.A.A.A. 5. The players came back for the second period (refreshed with ten minutes rest) and, in the case of the Juniors, with some advice and encouragement from Coach Van Wagner. The Red and White opened proceedings with a rush, Caplan scoring twice in quick succession by well-aimed shots. Brice was also on the spot again, following Caplan's goals with two more soon after. However, the Blue and Red team weren't left behind by any means, for they soon evened the score by two free-goals, and three field-goals. From this point on the shots flew thick and fast, and both sides did some nice scoring, but the Juniors managed to get a lead that the M.A.A.A. could not overcome before the whistle blew for full time.

Final score: Juniors, 26; M.A.A.A., 18.

For McGill, Brice and Caplan did very good work, and in the last few minutes of play Dobson showed up to advantage. Wilson and Reynolds did best for M.A.A.A., the former getting in some very accurate shots. Mr. J. Finie, a member of the Highlanders team, referred to the satisfaction of all the players.

The line-ups were as follows:
McGill. M.A.A.A.
Caplan.....forward..... Fitzpatrick

SUPPER AT HALL TO-NIGHT

Bible Study Group to Serve Supper in Novel Way.

To-night the new scheme of serving supper for the Bible Study group will be tried out for a second time. Last Monday the repast was served in the reading-room around the open fireplace, and so popular was this, that it was unanimously decided to carry out similar plans for this week's session.

The supper will be served sharp at six o'clock, and it is hoped that every member will be on hand.

RUGBY DINNER FOR TO-NIGHT

English Rugbyists in the Union Grill.

The English Rugby dinner will be held at 7.30 to-night, in the Grill-room of the Union.

An orchestra has been engaged for the occasion, and together with the appropriate meal and entertaining speeches an enjoyable evening is assured. A few extra covers yet remain, and those who have not, so far, signified their intention of going, may do so some time during the day. Professors Whitnall and Matthews will be present at the dinner, and will address the gathering. These two gentlemen have given considerable assistance to the club in the past, and the latter acted as coach to the team throughout the season.

Plans for next season will be discussed at the dinner, and a full attendance is looked for.

AFTERNOON TEA AT HALL SUNDAY

"Out-of-Towners" Entertained By Ladies' Auxiliary at Strathcona Hall.

Yesterday afternoon at Strathcona Hall Mrs. Scrimger poured tea assisted by several young ladies from the Royal Victoria College. This social function was a new means of welcoming some fifteen out-of-town students, and is only one of the several which are being given by members of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the McGill "Y."

This also is but one of the many proofs of the deep interest taken by the Ladies' Auxiliary in McGill students, especially the ones from outside the city.

A most enjoyable programme was afforded in the form of a musicale, which was thoroughly appreciated by all present.

It is indeed hoped that many more students will be present next Friday and Saturday, from 5 to 6, that the Hospitality Committee may meet them.

We only want you to buy from "Daily" advertisers if you're satisfied with the goods they sell—but you owe them a tryout.

C.O.T.C. TRIP TO ST. JOHNS SUCCESSFUL

Cadets Return Weary But Contented.

GREAT ENTHUSIASM.

Progress in Riding Was Remarkable.

On Saturday, at 8.15 a.m., the Cavalry Squadron of the McGill C.O.T.C. entrained for St. Johns, P.Q., under Capt. D. H. Macfarlane, M.C. Fifty-five of all other ranks, all those who had signed for the course, met at Bonaventure Station at 7.45 a.m. Lieut. K. Jencks, M.C., accompanied the squadron, and Lieut. Leech joined the detachment on Sunday at St. Johns.

On arrival, the squadron marched direct to the barracks of the Royal Canadian Dragoons, "A" Squadron. There they were split up into two "rides," one going to the Riding School, where Sergt. T. King, R.C.D., instructed them in how to move at a walk and the trot. After three-quarters of an hour the first ride went to a lecture by Sergt. King, R.C.D., on "Saddlery and Saddling," while the second ride took their places in the ring under Q.M.S. I Dowdell, R.C.D.

At 11.30 a.m., the men paraded to the stables, where they learned the art of manure as applied to horses. "Stables" lasted for an hour and a half, the men actually grooming their own horses under the supervision of the R.C.D. troopers. The men then "stood to" while the throaty trumpets sounded the "Water" and the "Feed," after which the troops marched off to an excellent meal in the mess-room of the R.C.D. After dinner the men attended two lectures, one by Major and Adjutant Stethem, R.C.D., on "Cavalry, its characteristics, organization and employment, and its role on the battlefield," which was a lucid exposition of cavalry tactics with graphic illustrations drawn from the late war.

The second lecture was by Q.M.S. I. Dowdell, R.C.D., on "Stable management and stable economy," where the theoretical basis of grooming and feeding was explained to the men. This was appropriately followed by evening stables and then supper, after which many went down to inspect the bright white lights of St. Johns. Many, however, were heartily glad to turn in on the spring cots which now form part of the barrack furniture of the reconstituted Permanent Force of Canada.

On Sunday the men rose at 6.30 a.m., and after morning stables at 7.00 a.m., breakfasted at eight. Then at nine they went to rides and a lecture on the anatomy of the horse as affecting saddling, grooming and march discipline. Great progress was shown on the rides, although a few involuntary rough-riders tried buck-jumping, but stuck on valiantly. In the afternoon there was instruction in sword drill on foot, the sword exercise and points with the sabre. The men found the weapon a trifle heavy and awkward, but showed great quickness and a keen desire to become proficient. This was followed by a lecture on "Field Messages and Inter-Communication," by Lieut. Drury, R.C.D.

After the evening stables and supper were over, the squadron returned to Montreal, tired but still full of pep, as the men showed by McGill yells and Rotters' songs which were lustily rendered at the station. The detachment detrained at the Windsor Station, and was there dismissed by Capt. Macfarlane, with the members greatly interested in the practical side of cavalry work and eager for their next trip.

The R.C.D. did everything in their power to make the work interesting and to see that the visitors were comfortably accommodated.

PRESBYTERIANS STILL WINNING

Finished First Half of League Saturday When They Defeated Wesleyans.

The Presbyterian College completed their part in the first half of the Theological Basketball League Saturday afternoon by badly defeating the Wesleyan squad by the rather large score of 45 to 8. To give the losers credit, they played a hard game, and were very good sports indeed. But their shooting was poor, and their team play left much to be desired. As far as the latter goes, the Presbyterians had no great show of combination, but the unerring shooting of Amaron and Avison piled up the huge score. These two men seemed to find the basket almost at will, in spite of the desperate efforts of the men told off to guard them.

The game was fairly fast throughout, but was rather loose and open, many of the passes being very wild. The best part of the play was during the first five minutes of the second half, when it looked as though the Wesleyans were going to hold their opponents to no further score. It has been remarkable all season that the Presbyterians have always fallen down somewhat in the first part of the second half, and let their opponents put it over them for a little while, at least, although they always manage to come out on top, owing to the lead which they pile up during the first half.

The scoring was nearly even in each half. At half-time the score stood 25 to 4, the Presbyterians adding 20 in the second and the Methodists 4. For the winners, Amaron was, as usual, the big man. But Avison, who played a magnificent game, ran him a very close second. Hutton did not seem to hit his usual stride, but did useful work in feeding the other forwards. The defence, which was completely changed at half-time, was very effective, except just at the beginning of the second period, and presented a stone wall that the Wesleyans could not penetrate. For the Methodists Roberts was the star, he scoring every one of the eight points. Davis at guard played a very good game, and helped to keep the score from being larger.

So far this season the Presbyterians have not met with a single defeat. The second half of this

MECHANICAL CLUB AT BREWERIES

Many Members Took Opportunity to Inspect Modern Beer Plant.

Last Saturday afternoon the members of the Mechanical Club turned out in force to avail themselves of the exceptional opportunity offered by the Frontenac Breweries, Limited, to inspect their plant.

The members were conducted round the plant by the president of the company, Mr. Pierre Beaulieu, and thus had every detail of the process fully explained.

The bottle-washing room was first visited, where the returned bottles are cleaned by being passed in racks through a series of tanks containing strong solutions of caustic soda and then thoroughly washed by water under pressure, after which they are ready for use again. The bottles are filled and capped in automatic machines, of which there are three, connected directly to the washing and cleaning machines.

Most of the beer exported is shipped in steel barrels of 25 gallons capacity, and special machines are used to thoroughly wash these inside and scrub them outside.

The actual brew-house was next visited. The malt is brought in at the top, accurately weighed, and is passed into two large solid copper brewing vats containing the right quantity of hard water obtained from a 500-ft. artesian well on the premises. This brew is cooked by live steam in a chamber under the vats, and, after the correct time, is drawn off into cooling tanks in a cold room. In these tanks the yeast is added and the product allowed to remain until properly aged, when it is pumped through copper pipes to the filling machines and either barrelled or bottled.

The beer during the whole process is in contact with nothing but copper, and every precaution is taken to have the plant as sanitary as possible, so as to maintain the high standard of quality of their product.

The power plant was also fully in-

CELEBRATION OF CENTENNIAL NEXT OCTOBER

Elaborate Plans Made For Festival Next Year.

EXPECT OVER 3,000.

Pageant To Be Feature of Programme.

The celebration of the McGill Centenary in October next has been elaborately provided for. In order to assure as large an attendance of graduates as possible, arrangements are being made far in advance, and are now largely completed.

Close to three thousand graduates are expected to be in town for the celebration from all parts of Canada and the United States. Of the six thousand McGill graduates in all throughout the world, very few have not been communicated with by the committee.

The dates set for the Centenary are the 12th, 13th, 14th and 15th of October, and the programme will include, among many other features, a spectacular pageant. This pageant, which will be held in the open, on the Campus or the Stadium, will depict various events in McGill's century of existence. A large number of people will take part, and the progress of the University, from its foundation, through the century to the present day, will be traced out. McGill's part in the Great War will also occupy a prominent part in the pageant.

In addition to the pageant, the committee has arranged to hold several garden parties and old class reunions. In this way the graduates and members of classes of past years will be brought into closer relationship.

The Sports part of the programme has not been neglected by any means, and one whole day has been set aside for this purpose. Track and field events and a football game with Toronto Varsity will make up the day's programme.

The rather difficult problem of housing the visiting graduates will be solved by the Housing Committee, who plan to reserve accommodations far ahead in the city hotels.

The plans for the celebration are progressing rapidly, and Sir Arthur Currie, the Principal, has already lent considerable aid to the committee.

The committee in charge of the work is composed of: Brig-General G. Eric McCuaig, chairman; Capt. J. Ross, vice-chairman; Capt. H. Morgan, secretary. For the outside work, the following have been appointed: Lieut.-Col. Gregor Barclay, Quebec chairman; Major J. Kemp, Ontario chairman; Capt. Abner Kingman, Jr., Manitoba chairman; Capt. H. Scott, Saskatchewan chairman; F. J. Common, chairman for Maritime Provinces and Newfoundland; Lieut.-Col. W. Turner, Alberta chairman; Fraser Keith, British Columbia chairman; H. Russell, chairman for United States; Lieut.-Col. A. Cameron, D.S.O., chairman for other countries. Other members of the committee are: Messrs. I. Jenkins, Dr. J. Nicholson and Prof. N. N. Evans.

ADMINISTERED DUAL DEFEAT TO MACDONALD

R. V. C. Win Two Games at Molson Hall Saturday.

NOTABLE VICTORIES.

Seniors Win 25-3, While Juniors Win by 12-3.

The basketball games between the Macdonald and R. V. C. first and second teams were played on Saturday morning at Molson Hall. There were about seventy spectators and the interest of the men, shown by the number who turned out to watch, was greatly appreciated.

The game between the second teams was very strenuous and several times a halt was called for half a minute's rest. On the Macdonald team the centres were very strong but their efforts were overbalanced by the good combination of the R.V.C. girls. The score at the end of the first half was 12-3 in favor of R.V.C.

The second half was also hard fought and again the teamwork of the R.V.C. girls was a prominent feature. Miss Eleanor Cox made several spectacular shots and the score continued to mount. Macdonald's points were all obtained by free shots. The final score was 26-4.

In the match between the first teams the R.V.C. girls won an easy victory. They showed excellent teamwork throughout, each one playing so well that to pick out an individual star would be impossible. The play was chiefly around the R. V. C. goal. There were several fouls for each team. At the end of the first half the score was 25-3 for the R.V.C. team.

In the second half both teams worked very hard but Macdonald could not equal the splendid combination of the McGill team. The final score was 56-6. This game would have been more evenly contested if it had not been that two of the Macdonald girls were unable to play. The opposing team were further handicapped by exams during the past week which curtailed their practices and prevented them from doing themselves full justice. A good game is expected on Wednesday when the return matches are to be played at Ste. Anne's.

AGGIES BEAT JUNIOR "B" AT BASKETBALL

Final Score Resulted in 27-20
Loss.

CLOSE GAME.

Second Defeat For Unfortunate
Junior "B" Team.

The Junior "B" Basketball team suffered their second defeat on Saturday, at Macdonald College. The team left the Bonaventure Station at 1.30 and arrived at Macdonald about an hour later. The game commenced at 3.30, and fifty minutes later the Mac. team found themselves victors by a score of 27 to 20.

The first half started off well for Junior "B." The play was fast and the passing was fairly good. Mac Juniors put up a strong fight, but during the whole of this period the McGill team managed to keep a little ahead. The score at the end of the first half was 16 to 12 for McGill Junior "B."

The second half started with a rush for the Macdonald men. In the first few minutes they scored several baskets, and the McGill team for some unknown reason went to pieces. After that, although McGill Junior "B" fought their hardest, the Macs managed to put in basket after basket. Their combination was extremely good, and they easily had the advantage over the McGill men in this branch of the game. After several more minutes of prolonged agony on the part of McGill players, the final whistle blew, and after some minutes spent in addition the score was announced: Macdonald, 27; McGill, 20.

The line-up was as follows:
Pts. Macdonald McGill Pts.
13 Heslop.....f.....Read 12
6 Bradford.....f.....Lavy 6
6 Norcross.....c.....Whitner 0
2 McLennan.....g.....Finley 2

McGill spares were—Altner, Rowland and Kee. Rowland played centre part of first half. Kee played forward part of last half.
Umpire—McGrier. Referee—Templeton.

After the game, the McGill team was entertained in a most cordial manner. An excellent supper, of which there was plenty for everybody, was served. After the McGill men had satisfied their appetites, they attended the regular Saturday evening dance and entertainment. This was a most delightful affair, and all the members of Junior "B" who were able to stay did not hesitate a fraction of a second in saying "We thank you, Macdonald. It was simply great."

SUCCESS ATTENDS SUNDAY SINGS

Orchestra and Soloists Elicit
Approval—Special Programme Next Sunday.

The committee in charge of the "Sunday Sings" seem determined to send the men who attend them home with a good impression of these gatherings. Last week's was very successful, and yesterday evening saw a repetition of this. The orchestra was again on hand, and in addition there were several good soloists. The attendance left nothing to be desired, and everybody joined in the singing with gusto.

The proceedings opened, as usual, with the singing of some well-known hymns. The orchestra then came to the rescue of the tired voices, with several well-applauded selections. The substitution of a cello for the trombone in no way detracted from the delightfulness of the music, and in fact gave a more uniform tone, for this orchestra consists mainly of string instruments.

After several more hymns, Mr. James Paterson, of the Old Country Choir, rendered several solos which were much appreciated. Mr. Paterson has a wide range of tone, and was thus able to give his songs with good effect.

At the conclusion of Mr. Paterson's performance, delicious coffee and cake were brought in, and partaken of by all present. After the clatter of the cups had subsided, Miss Florence Stewart, who belongs to the Calvary Congregational Church choir, came forward. She also rendered several selections, which showed that she had had careful training of the voice; she got all difficult notes with ease and precision.

Before closing H. R. Avison announced that next Sunday would be a "Christmas night," and that special Christmas music would be sung. All those who have Christmas music are requested to bring it, and any additions to the orchestra will be appreciated. Some facetious person asked if Santa Claus would be there, but was told regretfully that he would not. A large attendance is expected next Sunday.

SINGULAR MAN MET REPORTER ON THE CAMPUS

Person Suffering From Strange Disease Appears.

HORDE ON CAMPUS.

Great Amusement Afforded to Spectators.

As I was about to enter the campus the other morning I saw a human wreck come rushing down the walk. When he saw me he came wildly on, and seizing me by the coat sleeve, he commenced, in hurried and incomprehensible language, to relate what he called a formidable incident. He wore no hat or coat and his collar was crumpled, as if he had been in a terrific struggle. His hair stood erect upon his head as one who was under the influence of some strange phenomenon. From his general appearance one would be apt to think that he was either suffering from a nervous breakdown or that he had just received the report of a mid-term test.

After I had assured him that it was all right and that I would gladly help him in any possible way, he told me that a great disaster had befallen the University. He said that it was the duty of every loyal son of old McGill to help his Alma Mater. After this brief discourse I was sure that it was not the results of a test or he would not have been in such a friendly spirit towards the University, and therefore concluded he was laboring under the effects of an overworked brain. I therefore wanted to take him home. At this suggestion he immediately became infuriated and, using some very forcible words, he told me his exact opinion of me which was short, but to the point. He told me that a wild horde had seized that portion of the campus to the south, and east of the museum.

He said that the authorities were unable to cope with the matter and any one desiring to cross from the Library to the Arts or Science Buildings had either to go down along Sherbrooke street and enter the grounds by the main entrance; or they were in great danger of being attacked by this unrestrained mob.

Without further explanation he grasped me firmly by the collar of my coat, and despite my protests, he dragged me roughly up the campus to the amusement of everyone who saw us as we rushed heading up the main thoroughfare. Once he stopped, possibly to take a breath, and as I was about to ask him a few more questions I found myself being dragged along still faster. When we reached the portion which he said was under the control of the angry mob, he stopped and we advanced more carefully. When he thought that we were near enough he stopped, and looking more terrible than ever he pointed out the horde.

His horde to my joy and surprise was composed of several jolly and robust children, who had come, some with sleds, and others with toboggans, to slide on the campus.

When I turned around my friend had departed and on looking back I saw him running down the campus in search of some new victim who would perhaps be a more sympathetic listener.

On looking at my watch I discovered that it was 9.10 and I would have to hurry to get to the 9.05 lecture.

executive to have a representative of this firm at the Union Tuesday evening, but it has been impossible. The very short distance to Smyth's store, which is just below St. Catherine Street, will no doubt be just as convenient and far more satisfactory to all, especially with the special concessions of Mr. Smyth.

McGill Men and Women

Every normal one of us just at this time of year is reacting to the call of the Christmas Spirit—the spirit which impels us to give tangible evidence of the good will we bear our friends. The MCGILL DAILY wishes, in this connection, to call your attention to an opportunity which you have at this time to show your good will toward men and firms who have shown their good will and friendship toward you by advertising in your paper.

Nearly every line of merchandise is represented among the advertisers in the "DAILY," and they all—we feel safe in saying—offer as good merchandise and values as are to be found in Montreal.

Therefore, when you are doing your Christmas shopping, remember those merchants who think enough of McGill and her students, to appeal directly to them through the medium of their own publication.
